

L'INSTITUT SHASTRI INDO-CANADIAN
INDO-CANADIEN INSTITUTE

A GUIDE TO MEMBERSHIP

Facilitating sustainable, mutually beneficial academic and cultural linkages between India and Canada

Who we are

The Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute (<http://www.shastriinstitute.org/>) is a bi-national organization that promotes understanding between India and Canada through academic activities and exchanges. The scope of these activities include fellowships, funded research, internships and library resources, with an impact that cuts across academia, government, the business community and civil society.

The Shastri Institute is funded by government bodies in both India and Canada and is named after Lal Bahadur Shastri, Prime Minister of India from 1964 to 1966.

Background

The concept of an Institute to promote scholarly activity between India and Canada was conceived in 1966, during a conversation between then Indian Finance Minister T.T. Krishnamachari and Professor Michael Brecher of McGill University. In 1968, a joint announcement by the Indian and Canadian governments gave birth to the Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute.

Initially, the focus of the Institute was to encourage university level Canadian teaching and research on India. Due to a reciprocal interest in Canada among Indian researchers in the early 1980s, the Institute began promoting similar Canadian Studies programs in India. Over the Institute's 50-year history we have awarded hundreds of fellowships. We have also placed thousands of books in Canadian and Indian university libraries, presented dozens of seminars and funded world class research.

Today, the Institute's activities have broadened beyond the social sciences and humanities. Many of the projects we fund today have multidisciplinary scope. In the field of development, we focus on achieving gender equality, environmental sustainability and promoting the United Nations' Millennium Development Goals, corresponding to the National development priorities of India.

The Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute currently maintains a bi-national status with offices in Canada and India. Its governing board, the Executive Council, consists of equal number of members and government representatives from India and Canada.

The Institute's core operating grants come from the governments of India and Canada.

Why membership is important for you

- ✓ Having a bi-lateral relationship directly with a foreign government, the Shastri Institute offers an exclusive opportunity to participate in the development of Canada-India relations, a process in which our members play a vital role.
- ✓ Members influence the direction we take and the services we provide by assigning a representative to sit on our Member Councils in each country.
- ✓ Members have access to extensive in-country support services through our offices in both countries that will enable them to more easily and effectively develop bi-national networks and partnerships.
- ✓ Member institutions receive ongoing communications about our grants, awards and other funding opportunities and have exclusive access to most of these funds.

Benefits of Membership

1. Visibility

The members of Shastri member institutions gain opportunities to showcase and publicize their events, news, achievements and publications both in and outside of their institution through the Institute's website, newsletters, annual reports, and other events, such as: regional and national conferences, seminars and roundtables.

2. Skill Development

The members benefit from opportunities to participate in the governance of the Institute, which provides ample prospects for developing administrative, management and decision-making skills.

3. Access to Grants and Participation

Faculty members of member institutions receive opportunities to participate in all the programs, grants and services of the Institute offered throughout the year.

4. Faculty Development and Enrichment

Faculty of member institutes frequently participate in our fellowships, visiting lectureship programs and receive seed grants to develop collaborative projects with Indian institutions.

5. Research Collaboration

Faculty members of member universities receive opportunities to conduct joint research with Indian institutions.

6. Student Development

Students from member institutions receive opportunities to internationalize their education and experience by accessing grants for language studies (Indian), research projects, internships and other capacity building opportunities, that require visiting and studying in Indian institutions.

7. Resources

Member universities in Canada receive an allocation of resource and library materials related to India studies.

8. Member Services

Members receive in-country support services in Canada and India with respect to developing contacts, linkages and partnerships with universities in India.

9. Networking with other Member institutions

Members receive ample networking opportunities (in person and virtual) with other Canadian and Indian members through participating in the annual general meeting and other events of the Institute.

The work of the Shastri Institute is to facilitate relationships between our member institutions in India and Canada. We consider our member institutions to be our partners in this enterprise and we maintain close relationships with our Member Representatives through regular communications and face-to-face meetings. We also stay in touch with our faculty and student alumni, providing them continued support through our program officers and regular updates through our newsletters.

About Membership

The Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute (SICI) welcomes membership applications from Canadian institutions of higher learning and related research councils, institutes, commissions and national museums located in Canada, whose activities support:

- the mission of the Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute;
- specialized professional teaching and research studies that involve education collaboration with India.

Membership Eligibility

- Membership of SICI, and thus of the Canadian Member Council (CMC), is open to Canadian academic institutions of higher learning and related research councils, commissions and national museums located in Canada, with such credentials as approved by the Executive Council.
- Higher education institutions, to be considered for membership, must normally be affiliated with Universities Canada and maintain undergraduate and/or graduate teaching and research programs in relevant fields, as well as having an interest in active collaboration with India.

- e. All decision-making authority shall reside with the members except where specifically delegated to the Executive Council through a by-law or resolution passed by the CMC.

Termination of Membership

- a. A member institution of SICI shall cease to be a member on any of the following grounds:
 - ✓ Non-payment of annual membership fee (for two successive years).
 - ✓ Involvement in activities that contravene the mission and objectives of SICI.
 - ✓ Lack of evidence of significant commitment to promoting Canada-India Education collaboration.
- b. Members may withdraw from the Institute at any time by filing a written resignation with the Institute, but such withdrawal shall not relieve the withdrawing Member from any dues or assessments that may have become due and payable to the Institute prior to such withdrawal.
- c. The Membership of any Canadian Member may be terminated by Special Resolution of the CMC.

Membership Application Process

1. Any qualified institution that wishes to become a member of the CMC, must first apply for membership to the SICI office in Canada.
2. The application and all other supporting documentation shall be placed before the Executive Council of SICI for consideration.
3. The application (in section four of the Application Form) should provide the following information to facilitate the admission request:
 - ✓ National and International reputation;
 - ✓ Profile of Faculty members engaged in Canada-India education cooperation and collaboration;
 - ✓ Profile of past and current Educational collaboration involving Indian institutions;
 - ✓ A demonstrated commitment to promote Canada India education cooperation and collaboration with statement of planned activities to be undertaken;
 - ✓ Recommendation from an EC member (based on his/her visit to the Institution) that the Institution meets the criteria.
4. The Executive Council will base its decision for eligibility on the above-mentioned criteria.
5. The Executive Council shall have the authority to admit new members.
6. A new member shall become a member on the date set by the Executive Council.

How to Apply

Following are the steps in acquiring membership with the Shastri Institute's Canadian Member Council:

- a. Visit our website at <http://www.shastriinstitute.org/canadian-institution> for information about membership policy of the Institute.
- b. Fill in the membership Application Form with required information and submit it electronically to the Institute's member relations officer at maldeen@ucalgary.ca; mahmuda@sici.org.in
- c. The Institute will notify you of the status of your application within 4 weeks. Please note that the Institute's Executive Council reviews all membership requests and makes a decision accordingly.
- d. Upon receipt of affirmative notification from the Institute, download and fill out the Membership Admission form.
- e. Send the Membership Admission form along with appropriate membership fee (cheque/money order) to the Institute's mailing address (Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute, 1418 Education Tower, 2500 University Drive, NW, Calgary, AB, T2N1N4, Canada). The membership fee may also be transferred electronically.

Membership Voyage

Upon acquiring membership with the Shastri institute, the first step is to appoint the two representatives from your institution who will work with us to ensure that you receive all the benefits of membership. These are: the appointing authority and the member representative.

How to select an Appointing Authority

The Appointing Authority has one important role- to ensure that there are active representatives at your institution. If a representative leaves the institution, or for any reason is unable to fulfill her/his duties, we will call upon the Appointing Authority to appoint a replacement. The Appointing Authority will also receive the invoice for annual membership fees. The ideal Appointing Authority will be a senior administrator. The VP Academic/Provost, Associate VP International, VP Research, or President are all appropriate fits.

How to select a Member Representative

The ideal Member Representative will be an individual with an extensive background in academic internationalization who has an interest in India. The candidate will have a prominent profile at your institution and s/he will be able to easily recruit support for the Institute's work through students, faculty members and the university administration. The Member Representative will represent the member institution on the Canadian Member Council.

The Role of Member Representatives

- ✓ To build awareness of the Shastri Institute and create/revive interest in India at your institution.
- ✓ To ensure the efficient flow of information between the Shastri Institute and the faculty and students at your institution while conveying to us the needs of your institution.
- ✓ To encourage collaboration and partnership with the Shastri Institute on India-related projects and initiatives at the administrative level.
- ✓ To represent your institution effectively and comprehensively (that is, in a way that will embrace all faculties and disciplines) on the Canadian Member Council, where key decisions about the Institute are made.
- ✓ To notify the Shastri Institute of changes in Appointing Authority, or if there are other changes within the senior administration of your institution.

You may wish to maximize your membership returns by:

- ✓ Networking with faculty, students, librarians and administrators and encouraging them to use the resources available through the Institute.
- ✓ Updating our Communications Officer on India-related projects and initiatives occurring at your institutions on an ongoing basis.
- ✓ Building a network of faculty and students who subscribe to updates on grants, awards, upcoming events, member activities and other relevant issues.
- ✓ Soliciting and nominating individuals at your institutions to serve on the Institute's grant awarding committees.
- ✓ Maintaining the Appointing Authority or assigning a temporary replacement if they are unable to fulfill these responsibilities for an extended period.

A Glimpse of our Current Program Themes

The Institute's programs are designed and offered to cover the following four broad thematic areas, namely:

- I. Student Mobility;
- II. Faculty mobility;
- III. Collaborative Research;
- IV. Application of Research-Generated Knowledge.

In addition, SICI is pleased to offer in-country facilitation and networking services. Both the Canadian Office in Calgary and the India Office in Delhi stand ready to offer advice to members regarding possible cooperative arrangements in each respective country, and to provide support services to those visiting either India or Canada.
